- Read the text below of Rachel's slave contract.
- Complete the corresponding worksheet.

Context:

Andrew Pringle operated a farm at Ben Lomond. It was several hundred acres in size. The Pringles that lived at Ben Lomond were not American citizens. Instead, they were immigrants from Scotland and thus British subjects. Their status as British subjects made it illegal for them to own slaves. However, as Rachel's slave contract shows, the Pringles still used enslaved labor at Ben Lomond.

Primary Source Document: Rachel's Slave Contract, 1857

On the 25th of December next, we promise and oblige ourselves, our heirs, executors, and administrators, to pay, or cause to be paid to, L. C. Muschett & heirs, or assigns, the just and full sum of Twenty five dollars current money of Virginia, it being the hire of Servant Rachel & two for the year 1857

We, moreover, bind ourselves, our heirs, &c., to furnish said Servant during the year, with good and sufficient summer and winter clothing, viz: three chemices two summer dresses & one winter dress, two pr shoes, yarn stockings bonnet & blanket

Witness our hands and seals, this day of 1857.
