II. Information About Pending Cases

1. How can I find out more about how district courts operate?

The Office of the Executive Secretary produces manuals for the judges and clerks of Virginia's general district and juvenile and domestic relations district courts.

2. How can I find out more about how circuit courts operate?

The Office of the Executive Secretary produces the manuals for the clerks of Virginia's circuit courts. There is a manual describing the processes for civil cases in the circuit court and a manual dealing with the processes for criminal cases in the circuit court.

3. If I have a pending court case, where can I get information or assistance?

Contact the court in which the case is filed for information or assistance in a pending court case. The Virginia's Court System page contains information on all courts in Virginia.

4. How can I get a new date for my case, if the date scheduled is inconvenient for me?

Contact the court in which your case is filed for more information about the possibility of changing your court date. Each court sets its own policy on the rescheduling of court hearings, otherwise known as getting a "continuance." The Virginia's Court System page contains information on all courts in Virginia.

5. If I want to file a court case, where can I get information or assistance?

A number of resources are available for information on filing a court case in Virginia, including:

- A. The court in which you plan to file a case. The Virginia's Court System page contains information on all courts in Virginia.
- B. The advice of a lawyer:
 - The Virginia State Bar offers a Lawyer Referral Service, through which you may consult an attorney for a limited period for a reduced fee. The toll-free telephone number is 1-800-552-7977.
 - Contact information for legal aid programs in Virginia.

Back to Top

III. Assistance with Legal Issues

1. Where can I do my own research about the law?

To conduct research about the law on your own, a number of sources of legal information are available in the Federal Links section of the State Law Library page, on which the listing of Virginia Public Law Libraries is also found, or you may contact a local public law library by using a local telephone directory.

2. If I want to look up a statute, where can I access the Code of Virginia?

The Code of Virginia legislative system does not provide cross-references to cases and articles, as does an annotated code. The official print version of the Code of Virginia, Virginia Code Annotated, is available at Virginia Public Law Libraries and public libraries in Virginia.

3. If I need legal advice, where can I find a lawyer?

The Virginia State Bar offers a Lawyer Referral Service, through which you may consult an attorney for a limited time at a reduced fee. The toll-free telephone number is 1-800-552-7977. Contact information for legal aid programs in Virginia providing free or low-cost legal assistance in civil matters to low-income households.

4. Where can I find court forms on Virginia's Judicial System website?

All Virginia Court Internet forms that are available to the public may be found on the Virginia's Court Forms webpage.

5. What should I do if I have found the court form I need on Virginia's Judicial System website, but I am unable to access the form?

Some forms on the Forms Listings are filled out by the court or court personnel only and are for "court use only."

- If you are unable to locate or access a Virginia court form that is available to the public contact the Webmaster.
- If the form is not available to the public, contact the court in which you plan to or have filed your case. The Virginia's Court System page contains information on all courts in Virginia.

6. Where can I find a complete listing of court forms on Virginia's Judicial System website?

- Circuit Court Forms List
- District Court Forms List

7. Where can I find answers to questions about the federal court system or a case filed in a federal court?

Several federal resource links are located in the Virginia's Judicial System website's Federal Links section of the State Law Library page. Questions about a particular case in the federal court system should be directed to that particular court.

IV. Questions About Traffic Cases

1. How can I pay my ticket without going to court?

- If the summons you received indicates that the offense is "pre-payable," you may follow the instructions with the summons to pay your ticket without going to court. In addition some general district courts accept payments of traffic tickets on the Internet. How soon you may use this option depends upon when the local court enters information regarding your case into the state database.
Note: Most courts enter traffic ticket information within 10 business days.
- If the court where your case is pending does not accept prepayments online, the offense with which you are charged is not "pre-payable," or if the local court has not entered information about your case into the state database, contact the court in the locality of where your case is pending for further direction. The Virginia's Court System page contains information on all courts in Virginia.

2. How can I verify that my Internet payment of a "pre-payable" ticket has been accepted?

Payments made before 3:30pm will be updated on the system on the following business day, or within two (2) business days if the payment was made on a Friday. You can check the Virginia Courts Case Information system to verify the status.

If the "Paid Status" does not show the case has been paid, the payment was not processed before 3:30pm the previous day. You may call the court to confirm receipt of payment. Each day the court receives a listing of all payments that were processed (if payment after 3:30PM Friday this listing will not be available until Tuesday). The Virginia's Court System page contains information on all courts in Virginia.

3. If I have lost my traffic ticket, what should I do?

There are several options:

- Contact the law enforcement agency that issued the citation:
 - Virginia State Police
 - Local law enforcement agencies
- Look for your case online at Virginia Courts Case Information, by locality.
- Look for your case online at How to Pay Traffic Tickets and Other Minor Offenses Online to determine if your traffic violation is pre-payable without coming to court. If the local court has entered information about your case into the state database, you may find a record of your traffic case (but not the ticket itself).
Note: Most courts enter traffic ticket information within 10 business days.

4. Where can I get information about my Virginia driver's license (operator's permit) or the Virginia driver's point system?

Virginia Department of Motor Vehicles:

- o Record Services: Request a Copy of Your Driver or Vehicle Record
- o Driver Services: Points and Violations (Moving Violations and Point Assessments)

XII. Concealed Handgun Permits

1. How can I get a concealed handgun permit?

Consult the portion of the Virginia State Police website that describes the application process for a concealed handgun permit and provides a link to the application form itself.

Back to Top

XIII. Restoration of Civil Rights

1. How can I get my civil rights restored?

Circuit courts in Virginia have the authority to approve that voting rights – and only voting rights – be restored to people convicted of certain felonies. The court process is described in Chapter 6 of the Circuit Court Clerk's Manual – Civil.

The following forms are applicable to this process:

- o Information About Petitioning a Circuit Court for Approval of the Right to Register to Vote
- o Petition for Approval of the Right to be Eligible to Register to Vote

Only the Governor can actually restore voting rights. For more information regarding this process or related court forms contact the circuit court where you intend to file the proceeding. The Virginia's Court System page contains information on all courts in Virginia.

Other than voting rights, the restoration of civil rights is completely the role of the Governor and is handled through the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Back to Top

XIV. Appealing a Case

1. What can I do if I disagree with a court decision?

A party who disagrees with a court decision may, under certain circumstances and within certain time limits, appeal to a higher court. Contact the court in which your case was decided for further information. The Virginia's Court System page contains information on all courts in Virginia.

Back to Top

XV. Judicial Misconduct

1. What can I do if I am concerned about possible judicial misconduct on the part of the judge in my case?

The Judicial Inquiry and Review Commission is the state agency that investigates charges of judicial misconduct. The Commission investigates complaints against judges only, not lawyers, magistrates, or court personnel. The Commission may not investigate matters of judicial discretion, such as the rulings and decisions of the judge. The Commission does not interfere with pending cases, unless there is a complaint of delay. Other complaints will be investigated only when the case is concluded. The Commission cannot change any judicial decision or finding. Reversals of judicial decisions can be made by a higher court or other process provided by law.
